

You are from an environmental group who think tourism will lead to environmental damage, pollution and overcrowding

You are, from the government who are convinced that tourism will provide employment, earn foreign currency, and give the economy a much needed boost.

You are a local workers representative. You are worried that tourism will cause price rises, damage traditional farming and fishing and that new work will be seasonal and low paid.

You are a local workers representative. You are worried that tourism will cause price rises, damage traditional farming and fishing and that new work will be seasonal and low paid.

You are residents in the proposed development area and do not want it to change

You are a representative from the international tourist company proposing (and funding) the holiday development. You think there's money to be made, if you can convince the locals.

You are residents in the proposed development area and would welcome the opportunities tourism would bring.
